Axalto Provides Vakifbank with One-Stop Shop for Security Solutions

Delivers EMV technology to top-tier Turkish bank and secures access to its corporate assets

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, February 27, 2006—Axalto (Euronext: NL0000400653 – AXL), the world’s leader in microprocessor cards, today announced it is providing Vakifbank, Turkey’s largest card issuer, with a complete EMV (Europay MasterCard Visa) package including data preparation, multi-application cards supply and a turnkey personalization solution. Vakifbank also selected Axalto for a second project -providing its personnel with advanced corporate badges to ensure identification and secure access to its networks and premises - using Axalto as a “one-stop shop” for security solutions. For Vakifbank, working with one single company simplified the implementation process and saved time on both projects. The issuance of EMV cards and corporate badges started last December.

In migrating to the EMV standard, Vakifbank provides its customers with better protection against fraud. For the cardholder, this enhanced security level increases confidence in using the card as a means of payment, especially when traveling abroad. Furthermore, the greater speed of offline transactions performed with EMV cards affords Vakifbank customers more convenience.

The Axalto badge solution combines logical and physical access. It guarantees secure access to the bank’s internal networks and applications through advanced cryptographic features included in the card chip software, and also features a contactless interface enabling physical access control to buildings and secure areas. With this really convenient solution, Vakifbank’s employees need only one card to access their buildings, park their cars, and log on to their networks.

“Axalto has been a major driver behind our highly successful roll-out of EMV-compliant banking cards,” said a Vakifbank spokesperson. “Also, the local team provided excellent support in the deployment of the corporate badge, which will be issued to all Vakifbank personnel by the end of the first quarter this year.”

Philippe Cambriel, president EMEA, Axalto, added: “This success reinforces Axalto’s positioning as a reliable business partner for banks willing to offer increased security and simplicity, in both payments and the fields of access control and IT security.”
