Polycarbonate has won the trust of governments across the world. Over 40 countries have chosen it for their national identity or residence permit programs. Close to 30 national passport programs are using it. Why?

Robust enough to resist intensive usage and extreme climates, polycarbonate is the most reliable and secure material for IDs and passport data pages.