Thales and Gemalto create a world leader in digital security

December 18, 2017

Philippe Vallée, CEO
Virginie Duperat-Vergne, CFO
Disclaimer

This communication does not constitute an offer to purchase or exchange or the solicitation of an offer to sell or exchange any securities of Gemalto.

This communication contains certain statements that are neither reported financial results nor other historical information and other statements concerning Gemalto. These statements include financial projections and estimates and their underlying assumptions, statements regarding plans, objectives and expectations with respect to future operations, events, products and services and future performance. Forward-looking statements are generally identified by the words “will”, "expects", "anticipates", "believes", "intends", "estimates", “target”, and similar expressions. These and other information and statements contained in this communication constitute forward-looking statements for purposes of applicable securities laws. Although management of the Company believes that the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, investors and security holders are cautioned that forward-looking information and statements are subject to various risks and uncertainties, many of which are difficult to predict and generally beyond the control of the Company, that could cause actual results and developments to differ materially from those expressed in, or implied or projected by the forward-looking information and statements, and the Company cannot guarantee future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those estimated by the forward-looking statements contained in this communication include, but are not limited to: trends in wireless communication and mobile commerce markets; the Company's ability to develop new technology and the effects of competing technologies developed; effects of the intense competition in the Company's main markets; challenges to or loss of intellectual property rights; ability to establish and maintain strategic relationships in its major businesses; ability to develop and take advantage of new software, platforms and services; profitability of the expansion strategy; effects of acquisitions and investments; ability of the Company's to integrate acquired businesses, activities and companies according to expectations; ability of the Company to achieve the expected synergies from acquisitions; and changes in global, political, economic, business, competitive, market and regulatory forces. Moreover, neither the Company nor any other person assumes responsibility for the accuracy and completeness of such forward-looking statements. The forward-looking statements contained in this communication speak only as of the date of this communication and the Company or its representatives are under no duty, and do not undertake, to update any of the forward-looking statements after this date to conform such statements to actual results, to reflect the occurrence of anticipated results or otherwise except as otherwise required by applicable law or regulations.
Transaction highlights

- €51 offer price, representing a premium of 57% over the closing price as of 8 December 2017

- All-cash offer unanimously recommended by Gemalto’s Board of Directors and unanimously approved by Thales’s Board of Directors

- Creation of a global market leader in the fast-growing digital security market, supporting the most demanding clients in their digital transformation

- Gemalto to be combined with Thales’ digital assets, within a new Global Business Unit
Acceleration of Gemalto vision within Thales

About Thales

- Global technology leader in aerospace, transport and defence & security markets, with €14.9bn revenues (2016) and 64,000 employees in 56 countries, including over 23,000 engineers
- Significant focus on digital technologies, having invested over €1bn in connectivity, cybersecurity, data analytics and artificial intelligence over the past three years

Creation of a world leader in digital security

- Creation of a security powerhouse with a solution portfolio including security software, expertise in biometrics and multifactor authentication and the issuance of secure digital and physical credentials
- Gemalto will continue to operate under its own brand as one of the seven Thales global business units incorporating Thales’ digital assets
- R&D at the core of Thales’s and Gemalto’s digital security businesses: 28,000+ engineers, of which 3,000+ researchers within combined group
- Unique and innovative technology portfolio in an IoT, Mobile and Cloud World
- New business unit will have €3.5bn revenue in the fast growing digital security market and will contribute to c.20% of pro forma group revenue
- Enhanced opportunities for Gemalto employees within the enlarged Thales
Highly attractive offer for Gemalto shareholders

- Offer price of €51 in cash per Gemalto share, cum dividend

- The offer price represents a premium of
  - 57% over the closing price as of 8 December 2017\(^1\)
  - 56% over the 1-month volume weighted average price\(^1\)
  - 48% over the 3-month volume weighted average price\(^1\)

---

\(^1\) Closing 8 December 2017 share price: €32.5, 1-month VWAP of €32.6, 3-month VWAP of €34.35
Other offer key terms

- Minimum acceptance level of at least 67% of Gemalto shares
- Regulatory approval condition
- Other customary conditions
- Termination right in case of superior offer\(^1\)
  - Requiring inter alia a price 9% higher
  - Contingent rights mechanism in case of competing offer less than 9% higher
- Right to match granted to Thales
- Break fee of €60m

Next steps

- Intended filing of the offer memorandum with the Dutch AFM within 4 weeks
- Closing expected second half 2018

\(^1\) Which would be a better strategic option for Gemalto and its stakeholders
Q&A
Gemalto
Enabling trust in the digital world